Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District, ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a rhumbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bump be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STRAUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bump to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great. Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man. Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Danbury Falls, Vermont. [27d.

Afghan and Biloch.

In all respects, particularly from a governing aspect, the Biloch is infinitely to be preferred to the Afghan. Though physically inferior in bulk and weight of body, he is the Afghan's equal in courage, and his superior in endurance and intelligence. One specially good trait in his character is that he never sulks or bears malice long, whereas the Afghan does both. Here are illustrations in point. I never remember having an Afghan whipped in jail without the fellow showing by his sullen looks and scowling face that he bore the striker, if not myself, a grudge for it. But here, in the Derah Ghazi Khan Jail, the punishment over, the Biloch is as frank and pleasant as he was before. One man, I remember, who was in as a bad character, would not work. He was warned that he would be whipped. He merely laughed, and said: "That won't make any difference, sahib." He was shown a man being whipped; he only looked grave. Finally he was whipped himself. He was taken out of his cell, stripped naked, tied wrists and ankles to the triangle, and given twenty or thirty—I forget the exact number—strokes with a rattan. During the operation he bit at the wood, bit almost through his tongue, but never either groaned or winced. The punishment over, he threw himself on the ground on his face, when the usual skin of cold water was dashed over him, and then the commiserating water-carrier stood upon the beaten parts to deaden the pain. Still he would not work. I saw him a day or two after in his cell, looking happy and unconcerned, though he must still have been very sore, and for days would not be able to sit down. He was pleased to see me. He seemed to have an idea that not being in jail for any specific and proved offense, it was not right to give him hard labor, and so put him on the level of a convicted felon. I remonstrated with him for his obstinacy, to no effect. One day I observed his splendid curls shining with oil or ghee. I asked how he had got it. He had saved it from his food, was the answer. I cut his ghee; still no effect. At last, as his example was becoming infectious, I warned him that if he would not work I should have him transferred to the Multan Jail, where I believe his Absalom-like hair would be cut short. That threat frightened him—his ringlets being the glory of the Biloch; he said he would try to work. He made a pretense of trying, and failing, was sent off to Multan, where I have no doubt he is now, though prison-crooked, as smiling and light hearted and doing nothing as he was here. Now, it is not the Afghan nature to behave as that Biloch did, and that Biloch's case is typical of others. Similarly circumstanced, the Afghan would have sulked, worked, fallen ill from fretting, and some day after his release, perhaps, killed the human instrument who had beaten him.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Insects of different species are attracted toward the species of plants suited to the wants of their offspring by the sense of smell, and if some odor, strong enough to overcome the natural odor of the plant, can be applied to the plant, or the earth around it, it will no longer attract the insect, but will escape its depredations. There are many strong odors carbolic acid, for example, that might be employed for such purposes.

—Mrs. Garfield keeps from her young children all newspaper mention of themselves. She wants them to be like other children.

Causes of Typhoid Fever.

A severe outbreak of typhoid fever which occurred last year at N. hant, a rocky peninsula near Boston, inhabited during the summer by a small number of very rich cottage owners, was followed by an investigation, of which the results are made public in an article by Mr. E. W. Bowditch, in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal. In such cases contamination of drinking-water is usually the principal cause of the spread of the disease, and the wells and cisterns which supply the houses were first examined. Water was taken from one hundred and ninety of these and analyzed. Eight of the samples were pronounced "excellent," and seventy-one others "permissible," or "good." One hundred and eleven were classed as "suspicious," "very suspicious," or "bad." About eighty cases of fever occurred, nearly all of which could be accounted for by the actual condition of the drinking-water used in the houses inhabited by the patients. In a few others the filthy surroundings furnished a probable source of infection, although the water appeared pure, as, in one instance, where analysis failed to detect any serious pollution in water taken from a well situated within ten feet of one leaching cesspool and fifteen feet of another, both overflowing, and of course ready to furnish an occasional supply to the well during dry seasons or under other circumstances. One or two more were probably explained by the fact that the ice used in the household was brought from a foul pond in the vicinity; and only one seemed quite inexplicable, unless perhaps the infection might have been brought by milk contained in cans which had been rinsed in foul water. Mr. Bowditch's suspicion, that the infection was communicated in certain cases by contaminated ice, is strengthened by the fact that a very severe and fatal epidemic of typhoid fever was unquestionably caused in this way not long ago at a seashore hotel in New England; and it is worth asking whether the public authority might not be employed with advantage in exercising some sort of surveillance over the collection and sale of an article which may become, and perhaps already is, far more dangerous than the trichinous pork or immature veal against which so many precautions are taken. In one place that we know of, says the American Architect, thousands of tons of ice are annually gathered at the very edge of an extensive and well-filled cemetery, which slopes somewhat rapidly toward the water; and we have seen the winter product of a little pool formed by the overflow of what was practically the drain of a cluster of squalid houses regularly sold to customers.—Scientific American.

—A young woman was recently arrested in New York who has led a most adventurous life. In January last she was found at Hoboken almost frozen to death in the snow. From there she went to Brooklyn and attempted suicide by jumping into the Gowanus Canal. She was next found on West street, New York, where she was suffering from the effects of a dose of oxalic acid. Writers of the modern sensational dramatic school would do well to take note of this case, and work it up with a few penny-awful accessories into a first-class five-act and seventeen-tableaux melodrama.—Christian Union.

The short potato crop in Ireland and the impending wheat crop in England are likely largely to increase emigration to the United States. London papers predict such an emigration fever for 1883 as has not been seen since the days of the discovery of gold in America and Australia.

The word "tariff" is properly derived from the name of the originally Moorish town, Tarifa, Gibraltar, in Spain. Holding it, the pirates levied tribute upon the commerce of mankind. Holding it, to-day the lords of looms, mills, and furnaces levy more insufferable exactions upon popular toil in this piratically plundered country.

A DESPATCH states that the fishermen on the New England coast have lost $150,000 on account of Wiggins' prediction of a storm. Many of the vessels remained in port through fear that the prediction might prove true, and have thus lost about three week's time at the most profitable season of the year. In addition to this several persons have been frightened to death and others have become insane.

The towboat John A. Wood, from Louisville for New Orleans, grounded her coal tow on Owensboro Bar sinking four and leaving seven loaded coal boats on the bar. The balance of her tow were landed below the bar. Gray's towboat, the Iron Duke, was assisting the Wood. The Wood left Louisville with eighteen boats and nine barges of coal—a huge tow.

The following is from the American Register: In all its aspects we find the tariff system false in theory and ruinous in fact—ruinous to all except the protected few, the lords of looms and mills. These, at last, have grasped at too much, have produced more than they can sell, and, holding all they have made, they close their mills and factories, withdraw, with their bonds and money-bags, to their tariff-built palaces and leave toil to beg or starve. So palpably vicious and unjust is the government, administered by the so-called Republican party, that, instead of protecting labor, at least, by making free every commodity which labor consumes, that it may live, this political party absolutely relieves of taxation, first, those commodities and facilities of business life which are enjoyed and used almost exclusively by the rich. Banking capital, bills, deposits, checks, perfumeries, and the like, are set free. While the tax on tobacco is lessened, the machinery of its collection is still the same. Gen. Ramm's patronage and stamps and collection districts are as numerous and costly as before, and the burdens of the country are as weighty as when tobacco paid more to lessen them. The purpose of the Republican party in enacting this "reformed (?) tariff" was to remove the question from the arena of political discussion and leave its favored class, for which, ever reckless of the rights and interests of the people and of the States, it delights to legislate, in the perfect enjoyment of a Federal revenue system enabling them, by enormous profits conceded, to withstand strikes till labor, starved into helplessness, comes back to its toil on any terms they choose to impose. Meanwhile they rest until surplus products of protected mills are consumed, and then, "stimulated" again to over production, mills are reopened, and again does the unnatural tariff-begotten industrial system reproduce the few enormously enriched and armies of beggarly toilers in mills and furnaces and mines. The whole system is artificial, unnatural, and violative of every principle of justice, equality, and right. In its general results, and as special industries are affected by it, the tariff code is an intolerable calamity, as seen in the fact that in order to produce $200,000,000 for the government it exacts from the people instead not less than $1,200,000,000 annually.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Miss Kate Lynch, of Cincinnati, is visiting her mother in this city.

Mr. Lee Hersch, of Terre Haute, Ind., is the guest of Mr. David Hechinger.

Miss Abbie Gates, of Covington, is the guest of the family of Mr. J. C. Owens.

Mr. George Hancock, of Mt. Olivet, was in Maysville on Tuesday. His business, we are pleased to hear, is prospering.

Master Stanley Kellar, a bright little son of Mr. Green R. Kellar, of the Carlisle Mercury, paid the BULLETIN a visit to-day.

COUNTY POINTS.

WASHINGTON.

Regular Preaching at the Methodist Church, next Sunday.

Mr. James Maddox has moved to town. We give him a hearty welcome.

Messrs. James Best and Harry Bargoyne, of Fern Leaf, visited our town Sunday.

Miss Birdie Adair, of Paris, is spending a few days with Miss Emma Goggin.

Rev. M. M. Riley preached at the Baptist Church, Sunday morning, and will preach again the second Sunday in April.

GUESS WHO.

MAYSBUCK.

Elder W. H. Tiller, pastor of the Christian Church in this place, and your humble servant spent last Sunday with the family of Mr. C. T. Kilgore. A big roasted turkey and other fixings were abundant, to which we did ample justice, and we would take occasion to state just here that any nice young gentleman that is looking for a partner to enjoy life with, should have an eye single to that place. They count No. 3, all eligible and greedy to be desired.

There was no addition to the Christian Church last Sunday night by confession. The baptism will take next Sunday after morning services in the Church. Hope everybody will be present to hear a good sermon.

The election passed off quietly Saturday.

C. W. Cook, of Newark, O., spent Sunday here.

W. T. Cooper, of R. M. Bishop & Co., was with us Monday night.

SUMMIT.

Farmers are very busy plowing and making tobacco beds, preparing for the early spring.

Rev. Mr. Smith preached at Stone Lick Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Geo. Wells is building a tenant house on his farm, which is soon to be occupied by Mr. Robert Davis. Glad to have him among us.

The young people spent a very pleasant evening at Mr. Tucker's last week.

Misses Mara and Sallie Bollinger, of Maysville, were visiting the family of Mr. Wilson Case last week.

Mr. Dan. Barnell, who recently moved to Fayette county is at home again.

SUN FLOWER.

FERN LEAF.

Movers are passing and repassing every day.

I presume that it is very seldom that there is so much change in the ownership of real estate, in the same length of time as has taken place in the last two months in North Eastern Kentucky.

Mrs. Helen Wallingford attended meeting at the old school Baptist Church, at Mt. Glend last Saturday and the Sabbath following.

Mr. Wm. Howard, on the bus line to Germantown, is one of the most clever and accommodating drivers on any line that leaves Maysville for the interior.

We were out on Clark's Run a few days since and find that the wheat looks much better out toward Washington than it does in this vicinity.

We heard a bachelor say, a short time ago, that he intended to move to Augusta, as he thought he could certainly find himself a wife out of sixty-five widows.

Robert D. Stevens, son of Louis Stevens, died on Sunday morning, and was buried Monday in the Lawrence Creek cemetery.

Mrs. Ann Holton, who died at the residence of her son, W. W. Holton, of Maysville, on last Saturday, was the mother of Mrs. Matt. Worthington, of this place. The remains of the deceased were brought to Germantown on Sunday, where, after funeral services by Eld West, they were interred in the cemetery of that place.

B. F. McIntyre intends having a new residence erected during the coming summer. The contract will be given to Geo. Erion & Son, of Germantown, who by the way, are excellent carpenters.

We had quite a pleasant visit in Murphysville from Saturday evening. One must be well acquainted with the people of that village to appreciate them as they should be appreciated. I know whereof I speak, when I say that there are no more hospitable, kind and generous people on the globe than are to be found there. We attended Divine service twice while there, and listened to two excellent sermons delivered by Rev. Mr. Walsh, Presiding Elder of the M. E. Church.

I don't know whether it is possible or not for the bachelor part of the BULLETIN to have his heart encased in armor that will prove invulnerable if he ventures out to the meeting of the "Kitchen Belles Club," on next Friday evening. It is said that the way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach, and I believe that most men agree with "Owen Meredith," who says that:

"We can live without music, poetry and art;
We can live without conscience and live without heart;

We may live without friends, we may live without books,
But civilized man cannot live without cooks.

He may live without books—what is knowledge but grieving?

He may live without hope—what is hope but deceiving?

He may live without love—what is passion but pining?

But where is the man that can live without dining?"

LEWISBURG.

The primary election at this place last Saturday passed off very quietly.

Mr. Frank Long and family have removed to the place recently purchased of Mr. C. S. Leach.

The prophesied blizzard struck Lewisburg last Saturday evening, lasting about twenty minutes.

Mr. William Chamberlain is erecting a dwelling near the North Fork on his father's place. Mr. William Singleton is doing the work.

On last Sunday while returning from the Mill Creek Church, accompanied by Miss Jessie

Bateman, Mr. Arthur Berry, had his buggy overturned by another buggy which was attempting to pass him and the latter caught in the hind wheel of his buggy. Both of the occupants were thrown out but neither of them received any injury.

Mr. John McGraw, has been very sick with the mumps and malarial fever has sufficiently recovered to be out attending to his farm duties.

W. T. Dodson has begun making tobacco hogheads at Marshall's Station. As there are quite a number of prize houses in this vicinity, we see no reason why Mr. Dodson should not do a considerable business in this line as he proposes to duplicate anybody's prices.

Prof. Holland Keyes is at present teaching at Carlisle where we are informed he has a fine school, was here last on Saturday and Sunday.

Owing to the over stocked condition of the Cincinnati market and the dryness of the tobacco there has been very little tobacco prized at this place for some day.

The mumps have been raging in this neighborhood for about two months and have visited nearly every family, but usually in a form except when it takes hold of old maids like

There have been a great many tobacco beds sown and we believe all without exception who are sowing beds are using canvass over their beds.

Mr. John Epperhart will shortly begin the erection of a residence for Mr. Dickey on the land recently purchased by Mr. Dickey, from Mr. Enoch Sexton.

As there will probably be only a few new tobacco barns built here the coming season some of our young carpenters are talking of going to Montgomery county to build barns.

Miss Mary Dutley and Mrs. P. Finnell and her little daughter are visiting the family of A. K. Marshall.

We have been requested by Prof. W. T. Berry to inform the patrons of his private school or any one interested in school work that they are cordially invited to visit his school on any day and at any hour that may suit their convenience and to judge for themselves of the work being done.

L. R. JORINA.

Mrs. Mary Murphy, aged about sixty, and a resident of Urbana, O., thirty years, fell into a cellar yesterday in a fit of vertigo, fractured her skull, and died almost instantly.

Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulates the hair cells to healthy action, and promotes a vigorous growth. It contains all that can be supplied to make the natural hair beautiful and abundant; keeps the scalp free from dandruff, prevents the hair from becoming dry and harsh, and makes it flexible and glossy.

When the blood is loaded with impurities, and moves sluggishly in the veins, an alterative is needed, as this condition of the vital fluid cannot last long without serious results. There is nothing better than Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood and impart energy to the system.

The Golden Robin.

When the robin sings no longer and a general silence prevails among our familiar birds, save the frequent brief notes of the song sparrow, it is delightful to hear once more the loud, musical call of the golden robin just returned from a month's vacation in the woods. I have never ascertained to my full satisfaction why these birds leave us immediately after their young have flown, and why they return about the middle of August. I have never traced their course, but have reason to believe they retire to the woods, perhaps for the protection of their young. They are absent about three weeks, and on their return we hear their song again, though it is not so loud or so frequent as in the early summer.

The golden robin in the early summer is the most conspicuous and attractive bird that visits the New England States. He is constantly moving from tree to tree in quest of insects. His principal colors are scarlet and gold, and save the scarlet tanager he is the most gorgeously arrayed of all our summer visitants. His notes remind one of those of the Virginia red bird; they are louder, but as often repeated, always charming and never wearisome. The lively song of the red bird is perhaps less varied, but it is even more constantly repeated.

I have always looked for the arrival of the golden robins on the first appearance of the cherry blossoms. Seldom in any year of my life have they failed to make their appearance simultaneously. If a dozen flowers could be counted on a cherry tree in any of our gardens, we were sure to hear the song of the golden robin poured forth as if to announce them. In the spring of this year (1882) this coincidence failed. A cherry tree near my window was in full bloom a week before any golden robin was seen or heard in the neighborhood. April and May of this year were months of unprecedented cold, and the birds seemed to be affected by it more than vegetation; but a rainstorm of a week's duration, that began just as the cherry blossoms appeared, was probably the chief cause of the lateness of the golden robin's arrival.

The golden robin is not heard so early in the morning as the common robin, and he does not, like that bird, sit on a perch and warble continuously. Whenever he alights on a tree he utters his few loud notes, and perhaps repeats them when he is about to fly away. Hence the song may be regarded as announcing every change of his situation. This loud and musical strain often repeated greatly enlivens the early morning chorus, and contributes more to the hilarity of early summer than the note of any other bird.

Though the golden robin sings no continuous song, he always finishes his strain, so that his pauses are very unlike those of the cat bird, who repeats two or three notes as if he had begun to sing and then stops. If he was going to say the words, "Do ye know what ye are about?" he would say, "Do ye," then pause a minute. Again he would say, "Do ye know—" then pause five minutes. Perhaps the next time he might repeat the whole sentence. His notes—except on rare occasions, when he may sing perhaps five minutes without a pause—are fragmentary. The golden robin delivers his whole strain, though it is short.

The nest of the golden robin is an extraordinary specimen of bird architecture; but it is so well known that any description of it to be new must be false. It has been known sometimes to weave several yards of tape or twine into its nest. The bird evidently understands the art of tying, though perhaps it could not tie a regular sailor's knot. It simply winds a string or tape round the supporting branches, and then weaves the remainder into the nest. Its knowledge of the art is just sufficient to answer its ends, and it can proceed no further.

—The living skeleton of a San Francisco side show went out for a walk on a railroad track. A locomotive knocked him down and ran over him. He arose and continued his walk. The four inches between the cowcatcher and the ties had been sufficient for his thinness. He was incidentally well advertised, but paid for it in bruises and scratches.

It having been asserted that I am preparing to move to the country and give up my interest in the Sewing Machine business, I take this method of announcing to my friends and the public that there is not a word of truth in it except that I will move my family to the country but will continue to sell the old RELIABLE SINGER at the same place, second street, opposite postoffice, and run my wagons in the country as heretofore. ### Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & Co., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.
